

Downtown Warren, Ohio

Founded 1799 - Historic Seat of the Connecticut Western Reserve

facts and figures

The City of Warren Central Business District (CBD) extends 150 acres in a nationally registered historic district, and anchors the greater downtown area, which extends to approximately one square mile in size.

As Trumbull County seat, office space in the downtown district maintains immediate access to the city, county and state courts.

There are over 6,000 employees working downtown, with at least 4,000 of these in the immediate Courthouse Square vicinity.

Downtown is a destination for dining; eight independent restaurants are located in the immediate downtown vicinity, in addition to four national chain restaurants.

Home to a number of independent retail shops, downtown is known for its unique selection of goods. From vintage items to urban fashion, you can find it all here!

Currently, over 1,000 residential units are located in downtown neighborhoods, and both residents and visitors have access to hundreds of accessible parking spaces.

Downtown is home to over ten churches of various denominations, with congregations estimated at over 25,000 residents.

CITY OF WARREN
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT
418 SOUTH MAIN STREET
WARREN, OHIO 44481
330-841-2595

Downtown has over 125 hotel rooms, 55 of which are located in the historic Park Hotel (now operated by the Comfort Inn chain); in the heart of Courthouse Square.

Annual attendance at the Warren Community Amphitheatre has exceeded 16,000 since its construction. Located in the heart of downtown, the Amphitheatre is host to over 30 first-class arts performances each summer. The 2007 season will be the first to utilize the Riverwalk Stagehouse facility at the Amphitheatre, which was constructed during the summer of 2006.

In 2007, downtown Warren will be home to nearly 50 events, including Noon in the Park, a weekly concert series in the Square, and the Packard Car Show, an celebration of Warren's history as home to the Packard automobile.

Located just north of downtown is the 2,500 seat Packard Music Hall which hosts a variety of entertainment events including theatrical productions, community and private events, and performances by the Packard Concert Band, who marked their 50th anniversary in 2005.

The Kinsman House and Land Office, both listed on the National Register and located in the downtown district, have recently undergone a complete exterior historic restoration as part of a comprehensive strategy to spur local community and economic development.

